The Troutman-Véronneau Prize

The Troutman Véronneau Prize was established in 1993 to recognize the best work submitted by an ophthalmologist under the age of 45, alternating between cornea and strabismus. The winner receives a $10,000 prize and presents the winning paper at the PAAO congresses. The Troutman-Véronneau Prize has been established by Richard C. Troutman, MD, and Suzanne Véronneau, MD, of New York City.

2011 Buenos Aires, Argentina
Recipient: Bruna Lana Ducca MD (Brazil)
Title: Measurement of the Ocular Torsion Variation After Superior Oblique Tenectomy

2009 San Francisco, California (none)

2007 Cancún, Mexico
Recipient: Vanesa Macedo Batista Fiorelli MD (Brazil)
Title: Intermittent Exotropia: Comparative Surgical Results of Lateral Recti-Recession and Monocular Recess-Resect

2005 Santiago, Chile
Recipient: Rocío Carolina Gutiérrez C. MD (Venezuela)
Title: Cultivo de células epiteliales limbales en membrana amniótica humana en el tratamiento de las quemaduras corneales por alcali

2003 San Juan, Puerto Rico
Recipient: Maria Estela Arroyo Llanes, MD (Mexico)
Title: Tratamiento de la Desvación Vertical Disociada (DVD) espontánea con la penalización farmacológica del ojo fijador

2001 Buenos Aires, Argentina
Recipient: José A. Gomes, MD (Brazil)
Title: Efeito do hialuronato de sódio (HS) na migração e proliferação das células do epitélio de córnea humana

1999 Orlando, Florida
Recipient: Jonathan C. Horton, MD (USA)
Title: Metabolic Mapping Suppression Scotomas in Striate Cortex of Macaques with Experimental Strabismus

1997 Cancún, México
Recipient: Peter McDonnell, MD (USA)
Title: Effects of Gene Transfer into Keratocytes on Corneal Wound Healing after Excimer Laser Keratectomy

1995 Quito, Ecuador
Recipient: William Lavin, MD (USA)
Title: Evaluation of the Microsurgical Technique of Anterior Ciliary Artery Preservation during Strabismus Surgery
1993 Caracas, Venezuela
Recipient: John D. Gottsch, MD (USA)
Title: Mooren’s Ulcer After Penetrating Keratoplasty: Evidence of a New Graft Rejection Process” -- FIRST PRIZE AWARDED